

US History Teaching Beyond the Culture Wars

A virtual lecture-discussion with historian Nick Kryczka
Wednesday, November 20th, 3:00PM - 4:15PM via Zoom

"What on earth are schoolchildren being taught about their nation's history?"

At the turn of the 2020s, political pundits posed this question rhetorically and then answered it in service of their partisan tastes. Progressives declared that history was being whitewashed. Conservatives claimed that students were being brainwashed. Two years ago, researchers with the American Historical Association took the question seriously and conducted a nationwide study of US history teaching.

Join historian and Northeastern Illinois University (NEIU) alumnus Nicholas Kryczka for a public discussion of the research team's findings and their implications for how we teach an honest, compelling, and rigorous American history in a landscape defined by culture war.

This event is sponsored by the NEIU History Department, the NEIU Libraries, and the Institute for Multipartisan Education.

To register, visit <https://tinyurl.com/2srskutm> or scan the code below.

Institute for Multipartisan Education
Disagree Curiously.
www.multipartisane.org

NEIU Libraries